

Road to My Heart

12 inches finished (12½ end to end)

This block is another road block, and I couldn't find a name for it.

If you colour it slightly differently to the current colouring, you will get a pair of hearts in each block. Just make the half square triangle block a solid square, and you will have a pair of hearts.

Light grey solid - 1 - 3 ½ inch by 15 inch strip
2 - 3 ½ inch squares
1 - 4 by 12 inch rectangle

Black Fabric - 1 - 3 ½ inch by 15 inch strip

Red fabric - 1 - 4 by 12 inch rectangles

This is another simple block.

We will start by making the six half-square triangle blocks.

Draw lines dividing the gray 4 by 11 inch rectangle in three lengthwise, then diagonally in each square:

Layer this rectangle with the Red rectangle, and sew ¼ inch on either side of the diagonals. Cut on the all drawn lines to give you six red/grey half square triangles. Trim the squares to 3 ½ inches.

Using the gray squares with the half triangle squares, make two four patches:

Now make the four patches by sewing the 3 ½ by 15 inch strips of grey and black right sides together along one long edge:

Cross cut the strip into 3 ½ inch sections, and sew two four 4-patches:

Lay out the four patches as shown in the diagram on the first page, and sew them together!
