

Paper Piecing your Star Points

You don't need the Tri-Recs or other ruler to make the star points. It is a quick exercise with paper piecing – and here's how I do it.

Draw your finished square on the dull side of freezer paper.

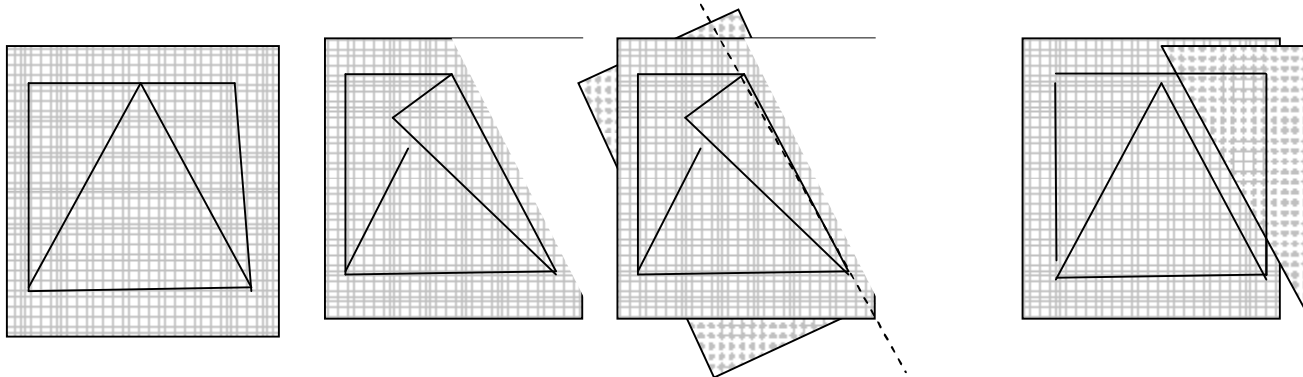

Lay the fabric for the centre triangle on the shiny side of the freezer paper (paper on wrong side of fabric), making sure the lines are covered and the fabric is in the right place. Press in place.

Now is the clever bit – slowly peel back the paper from one of the upper corners – until you have it away from the fabric, to one of the lines on your paper. Press the paper back on the line and trim the fabric to  $\frac{1}{4}$  inch.

Sew your second piece of fabric to the first along the folded line – right sides together but don't catch the paper. Fold the paper back in place and press it to the new fabric.

Do the same for the other side of the square.

Trim  $\frac{1}{4}$  inch around the pattern you have drawn
